To discuss them all, a book of many times the size of this would be needed. However, the principal pests of our main fruits, vegetables, cereals, farm animals, shade-trees, and of the household are discussed. A brief summary of the life habits of each, so far as they are known, is made, and the latest methods of control are outlined. In addition, a concise discussion of insecticides is given together with formulae and directions for making and applying them. Finally, references are given to the more important sources of information regarding the insects and their control. As far as possible, references are made to bulletins available to the general student and to those publications giving good illustrations of the insects, together with the most approved methods of control. It is neither possible nor desirable to give references to all the literature on any one insect pest but additional references to the later literature as...
