He entered the Classical Department of Princeton University, Sept. 1903, from which he graduated in 1907. His purpose was to enter Princeton Seminar to prepare for the Gospel ministry and go to the Punjab, India as a foreign missionary. Resolutions. Whereas. It has pleased our allwise and all-loving Father in his infinite goodness and mercy to take from us our friend and companion, William Eaton McLean, who had endeared himself to his fellows by his uprightness of character and purity of spirit, and for whose services in the office of President, the Philadelphian Society will always remain profoundly grateful: Therefore. Be it resolved. That we do express our heartfelt grief in his loss and do offer our sincere sympathy to his bereaved family and friends. God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ has called to eternal rest and peace his faithful servant and our beloved brother. Bill McLean. Our hearts are heavy with the sense of our loss and bereavement. Our frailty cannot grasp the purposes of an infinite God. But we know that the kingdom of heaven is richer by one pure soul. As Christ died for him, so he lived for Christ. In his death we have lost a faithful and beloved friend; but in his life we have a might inspiration to fight the good fight; to live as he lived, that in the end we may follow where he has gone. May the love of God bring such comfort to...
